The Jensen rug is inspired by traditional 19th-century Persian rug designs found in Soho Farmhouse. An intricate all-over pattern and decorative border is met with rich and deep warm tones as the perfect grounding layer in any room. Hand-knotted in India from a combination of Afghan and New Zealand wool, each one takes up to six months to craft with 41 knots per square inch. Traditionally, hand-knotted rugs still form the highest quality standard among all types of rugs and, depending on the type of knot, can last for generations in the home.
