Product details

The Jensen runner is inspired by traditional 19th-century Persian rug designs found in Soho Farmhouse. An intricate all-over pattern and decorative border is met with rich and deep warm tones as the perfect grounding layer for a hallway. Hand-knotted in India from a combination of Afghan and New Zealand wool, each one takes up to six months to craft with 41 knots per square inch. Traditionally, hand-knotted rugs still form the highest quality standard among all types of rugs and, depending on the type of knot, can last for generations in the home.

occasionally to equalise wear. Remove spills immediately; if liquid, blot with clean, un-dyed cloth by pressing firmly around the spill to absorb as much as possible. For hard-to-remove stains, professional rug cleaning is recommended. Store your rug by rolling it front side out and wrapping in cloth for protection. Do not fold or store rug in an airtight plastic bag. Place in dry, soap if needed; occasional professional cleaning may be required.
